Courses of Price Movement Irregular --- Foreigners Seem Anxious to Get Staple Out of Country.

NEW YORK. November 28.—The market has been backing and filling on mixed trading throughout the week, with cratic fluctuations. There was a decime early in the week from the ligh point of 15.14 for May to 41.76 where 20 points yesterday. Most of the falling of in the spot demand and the lower markets abroad, causing increased pressure of liquidation from scattering timid nolders.

After this movement had run its course upon the price falling to the basis of 143-8 cents for January and 145-5 for March and 143-4 cents for May options, the leading buil interested vesterday by the heavy ralling off in the movement of the crop for the week from plantations and the continued strength of the spot markets. Pit' traders who oversold themselves on the decline were covering on the savance yesterday. Their buying, with little builsh manipulation, helped in make the high prices during the attention, with May closing firm on the basis of 15.02.

It has also been said that the clique has been making preparations to receive this cotton by transferring considerable of what it now owns here to the Liverpool or continental markets, subject to sale there.

Meanwhile shipments direct from the interior and seaboard points in the South, direct to Liverpool, Manchester, Brehien, Hamburg, and Havre, continue on a large scale on purchases made some time ago. News from the West.

Advices from Chicago suggested that a few prominent houses had accumulated a large long interest in December, and consequently it was feared that sellers for the decline would have trouble in covering without a loss. Buying was stimulated partly by an unexpected heavy reduction in the visible supply. In fact, many traders did hot expect any decrease. This latter liciped to put the December premium in Chicago at 3½ cents, against 2½ cents and in Chicago to 2½ cents. This radical change was attributed partly to repects that farge holders were unloading and replacing with May, and partly by reperts that fairly large quantities of hard wheat had been bought in Duluth and Nebraska for shipment to Chicago for delivery on December contracts.

While primary receipts have been diminishing, shipments into consumptive channels were fairly large, and consequently it would cause no surprise should there be another decrease in the visible supply next week, although it is possible that some of the wheat that disappeared while in transit on rail last week will reappear at the seaboard for milling or export.

Advices from the Northwest have been decidedly strong, it being asserted that a remarkably large percentage. been decidedly strong, it being assert-ed that a remarkably large percentage of the crop has already been marketed, some so-celled experts claiming that between 50 and 60 per cent, of the crop was shipped by farmers in the first three months of the crop year, and the small balance is mainly concen-trated, it is alleged in the hands of trated, it is alleged, in the name of twell-to-do farmers, who will hold until low.

NEW YORK, November 28.—In the first half of the week, and especially at the outset, there was a strong advancing tendency in domestic wheat markets, and particularly so in December contracts, which advanced more rapidly than the distant deliveries, and as a consequence the premium over May rose to 4% cents against 3% 64 cents last week.

This rapid widening showed planly that December shorts had become nervous and anxious to cover, prompted largely by fear of manipulation, owing to light centract stocks in practically all markets, while receipts at primary points showed a marked decrease, the movement being almost 50 per cent smaller in winter wheat territory than a year ago, but in the Northwest the receipts were practically the same as last year.

Buying was stimulated partly by light stocks and the disappointing receipts at primary points. Thus far farmers have shown surprising unwillingness to sell.

In some quarters it was asserted that the insignificant movement was partly caused by the soft condition of much of the new, and, therefore, it was claimed that shipments from country points would not increase appreciably until the advent of coider weather, which is greatly needed to put'the grain into dry, merchantable condition. Exporters have been showing only limited interest, most of them complaining that their limits were too low.

THE PROBLEM OF HIGH COTTON.

Attitude of Gie Textile Trade at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., November 25.
—The sensational upward movement in cotton has exerted a demoralizing influence on textile lines dependent on the course of the white staple. So disturbed is the trade over this, that interests involved lately conferred here with representatives of the North Carolina Cotton Manufacturing Association to move for relief. The result of the deliberations was that the commission men seemed to agree that cotton-yarn spinners should get a higher price for their products. The spinners with an advance in the pound price for 27 to 30 cents on number 30 count; 24 to 26 on number 15 count, and a rise from 341-2 to 37 or 40 cents on number 40. The entire textile trade will be affected if this advance is determined upon. Prominent commission men here thought a higher price for yarns would soon be imperative.

If developed at this meeting that the Bouthern Association recently passed to developed at this meeting that the Bouthern Association recently passed or middle men. If this takes place, the spinners asked the commission men to "educate" the textile trade to a high-fairs which would accompany a program of attempted modification of the existing law.

Telephone and Telegraph Company. Fears arose that those transactions would be nullified by the new decision. The passing of anxiety over the immediate money situation lacked the power to help the market in the face of the unsettlement caused by the Standard Oil Company decision. The liquidation forced on the market and coming on a speculative position over extended in some directions, made a weak market at times. Some recovery ensued as opinion on the new situation crystallized and apprehension of the consequences subsided, but there remained an undercurrent of apprehension, as was shown, and it weakened the stock market over the prospect of the consequences.

The relaxation of the money market owed something to the stock market liquidation and the quieting down of repeculation followed the Standard on decision. The increasing strength of the Bank of England condition and the casing of the London discount market were influenced in this direction.

Gold has continued to go out from New York, but the crop movement in this country is waning, and a return flow of currency to New York is the consequence.

This and the persistent rumors of fa-vorable developments regarding Read-ing helped to some revival in the later stock market.

No doubt the reason for the general belief that the Chespeake and Ohio Rallway is behind this construction comes from the fact that Captain Troy, of Amherst county, president of this new line, was the promoter-president of the Virginia Air Line, which was built to connect the James River, branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio with the main line at Lindsay, which road has since been purchased by, and is now operated as a part of, the Chesapeake and Ohio not far distant from the James River branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio not far distant from the southern end of the Virginia Air Line, and it will go to Danville, at least and probably into North Carolina, paraheling the Southern.

Bishop Wilson Speaks at Conference in Raleigh.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

RALEIGH. N. C., November 28.—"Believest thou this," Christ's words to Martha at the raising of Lazarus, was the text of a great conference sermon to-day by Bishop Wilson, in connection with the North Carolina Methodist Conference here, the many lessons drawn showing the necessity of faith in Christian as well as secular effort. The power of "dead-raising by Christ" was comprehensively presented. "Itu can renovate your city in a day," declared the bishop. "He can change the condition of a State if you will let him."

Following the sermon there was an ordination service, during which the bishop ordained the following deacons: It. E. Spence, Wm. C. Martin, Wm. E. Trotman, W. W. Peele, C. B. Culbreth, Walter Pattin, D. H. Read and C. G. Kilpatrick.

During the afternoon there was an ordination service for elders, in which Bishop Wilson inducted into elders' orders the following: W. T. Usury, L. P. Howard, E. B. Craven, B. P. Robinson, J. M. Daniel, L. B. Jones.

Standing up and taking the vows of the church from other denominations. Bishop Wilson was assisted in the service by Elders J. T. L. Gibbs, R. B. John, W. L. Cunnigham and W. H. Puckett.

The memorial service this afternoon was devoted to four deceased ministers of the conference, who passed away during the year—Edwin A. Yabed. Standing up and taking the year wice with personal tribute read by Jno. N. Cole; F. D. Swindell, read by R. F. Bumpass; W. S. Rone, read by M. T. Pijeler, and J. H. N. Giles, by T. A. Sikes. There were a number of short eulogies to each, while Bishop Wilson closed the service with personal tributes to Yates. Rone and Swindell, whom he had known for thirty years.
